Mission

To provide leadership in uniting our community to improve people’s lives and build a vital, caring community.

Vision

To be the most vital, caring community in America.
Looking Back on a Great Year

Throughout the pages of this annual report, we are pleased to be able to share with you some of the successes we accomplished together in 2009. Thank you for the tremendous role you have played by generously sharing your time, your resources and your voice. Together, we continue to change lives and build a stronger community.

From helping families maximize their tax returns to training child care workers in the latest best practice methods, United Way is working to improve lives in Greenville County. While our scope is expansive, the work we do can be boiled down to two things: We help people who are in need right now and we work to eliminate future needs.

United Way helps people right now through our support of essential local programs offered by local partner agencies. Whether helping individuals find food and safe shelter in a time of crisis or providing health services, medical care and support services to families in need, our partner agencies do inspiring work. And thanks to your generous support, this important work continues at a time of even greater need.

Additionally in 2009, United Way of Greenville County and its volunteer leadership continued to look at ways in which we could alleviate some of the need for crisis services by focusing more on big-picture ideas and long-term solutions to the underlying causes that negatively impact school readiness, high school graduation and financial stability. Throughout this document you will be able to read about some of the exciting work taking place throughout our community around these stake-in-the-ground issues.

Here at home, with a challenged economy and increased unemployment rates, our community is being called upon in unprecedented ways to help our friends and neighbors through tough times. While the overall recovery has been slow, this community has been quick to respond with an unmatched spirit of caring and generosity, raising the third highest campaign total ever for United Way of Greenville County at more than $14 million.

Showing that kind of commitment and financial sacrifice during tough financial times has ensured United Way, its partner agencies and volunteers can continue to provide the essential services needed right now – every day – in our community, as well as move forward with our long-term goals to help all children start school ready to succeed, all youth graduate from high school, and all individuals and families to feel more financially secure. Together, we’ve made positive strides towards fulfilling our mission to improve people’s lives and build a vital, caring community.

Thank you once again for your support of your community through United Way. Thank you for making the choice to LIVE UNITED.

A Bold Plan of Action

Together we are working to advance the common good in our community. With your help, United Way’s work centers on two distinct, but equally important, strategic goals:

1) Helping People in Need Right Now through a commitment to supporting 86 essential local programs; and

2) Helping to Eliminate Future Needs through a commitment to addressing the underlying causes of critical problems.

Our plan for Greenville County is bold. We will lead efforts to prepare our children and youth for success in school and in life. By focusing our resources and community on children and youth, we stand to make the greatest impact possible. If we can change the future for young people, we can change the future for our community.

We invite you to be a part of the change. Together, united, we can inspire hope and create opportunities for a better tomorrow.

That’s what it means to LIVE UNITED.

HELPING PEOPLE IN NEED RIGHT NOW. ELIMINATING FUTURE NEEDS.

Creating a Cycle of Success

For many people in Greenville County a stable life is increasingly becoming out of reach. One in five families don’t earn enough money to provide for the basic needs of their households. In high school it is likely that more than 25% of those entering the 9th grade will not graduate in four years. And, three out of every ten children will not have the benefit of a high quality early childhood education.

United Way is ramping up efforts to achieve sustained community improvement in the areas of school readiness, high school graduation and financial stability. United Way’s long-term goals are to build strategies and mobilize partners and resources to ensure all children start school ready to succeed, all youth graduate from high school, and all individuals and families are able to provide for themselves and for their families.

Research tells us that children who enter kindergarten and first grade ready to succeed are more likely to excel through the years and graduate high school. We know that teens who graduate from high school are less likely to get into trouble and more likely to earn a livable wage. And we know that higher wages produce greater financial stability for families, with more savings for higher education, healthcare and home ownership. The cycle of success is complete as those families with increased finances are more likely to raise children ready to succeed in school.

Margaret Clark
Chair, Community Impact Cabinet
SCHOOL READINESS.

THE 10-YEAR GOAL—We will work to decrease the percentage of Greenville County children “not consistently demonstrating readiness” for first grade from 22.9% to 12.9%. This means that children will enter first grade on track developmentally in important social, physical, and academic areas.

During 2009 in the area of School Readiness, United Way continued working with the Greenville Hospital System Children’s Hospital, the University of South Carolina College of Social Work and other statewide partners to develop the South Carolina Institute for Child Success. The Institute is dedicated to early childhood development, education, health, research and training. It will serve as a hub for the creation and demonstration of best-practice approaches to addressing the physical, emotional and developmental needs of our state’s children. The Institute will be a place for measuring, collaborating and gathering of research for our young children, leading partners to eliminate duplications and fill gaps.

Our School Readiness Council is also continuing to collaborate with First Steps of Greenville and Spartanburg counties, the Mary Black Foundation, and United Way of the Piedmont to develop a child care Quality Rating Improvement System. We believe this initiative will increase the quality, affordability and accessibility of early child care centers.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION.

THE 10-YEAR GOAL—We will work to increase the high school graduation rate from its current level of 73.3% to 85% for all youth. Partnerships with Greenville County Schools and The Alliance for Quality Education will play a critical role.

In the area of High School Graduation we’ve expanded the scope of Graduate Greenville, which is an effective partnership between United Way, Greenville County Schools and the Alliance for Quality Education. Graduate Greenville provides outreach and assistance to students at risk of dropping out of high school. In 2009, the program was added at two more high schools for a total of five schools, reaching 320 high school students.

Seventy-four percent of freshmen students who participated in Graduate Greenville’s Summer Enrichment program, and had a graduation coach during last year’s school year, passed their all-important freshman year and continued on to the 10th grade.

And the 2009 “Opening Doors to Success Day” resulted in 24 students deciding to return to high school, and we received some extra credit when two parents decided to return to complete their GEDs.

FINANCIAL STABILITY.

THE 10-YEAR GOAL—We will work to decrease the number of Greenville County households that spend more than 40% of total household income on housing costs from 32,000 to less than 22,000. This is a major determining factor in a family’s ability to plan for the future and weather a personal or financial crisis.

Financial Stability is the third stake–in–the–ground issue, and United Way’s Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program, or VITA, is a cornerstone effort to improve people’s financial status. VITA filed more than 1,700 tax returns in 2009 with the help of 40 volunteer tax preparers. The returns brought $1.3 million back into Greenville County, with an average tax return of $4,300.

In 2009, United Way continued in its leadership role, in advancing the work of the Greenville Housing Fund, which made loans totaling $250,000 to non-profit developers building 27 new, affordable housing units. The housing fund also provided down payment assistance to 117 low-income homeowners totaling $12 million in local home sales.

In this economy, many in Greenville County are learning just how important it is to have the right job training to meet the needs of employers. Under the umbrella of the “Greenville Collaborative for Workforce Development”, United Way is working with Greenville Works, Greenville Technical College, the Workforce Investment Board, Employment Security Commission, United Ministries and the Chamber of Commerce, to strengthen the financial stability of our region by investing in Greenville’s low-income, under-skilled workforce to address skill shortages in industries critical to South Carolina’s economic health.
Foreclosure Prevention  In 2009, United Way worked diligently to respond to the needs created here in Greenville County by the national economic crisis. One initiative was the development of a foreclosure prevention taskforce. Pooling the resources and expertise of the Greenville County Human Relations Commission, the Greenville Housing Fund, S.C. Legal Services, and the Upstate Mediation Center, the taskforce held monthly seminars and provided free legal advice and mortgage rescue funds, preventing foreclosure for more than 70 homeowners in Greenville County.

Tough Times Toolkit  Layoffs, foreclosures and shrinking family budgets mean more of our neighbors, co-workers, and friends are living on the edge - some for the first time ever. In response to this, United Way created a Tough Times Toolkit, a resource guide to outline key community services such as job training, unemployment, child care, health care and financial counseling. Printed copies were made available at the Employment Security Commission, One-Stop Centers, United Way partner agencies, Greenville County Libraries, and other community centers. And an online version is housed on United Way’s Web site.

United Way 2-1-1  We also launched United Way 2-1-1, an information and referral phone service that links callers to appropriate health and human service resources in the community. United Way 2-1-1 answered nearly 7,000 calls last year for needs ranging from prescription drug assistance to clothing and shelter needs. This year, 2-1-1 will also be used to schedule appointments for VITA.

Grant Funding  One final item to report on United Way’s work this year. A goal laid out in the Strategic Plan is to diversify our sources of funds. In 2009, United Way received more than $520,000 in grants. These monies will be dispersed over the next two years to fund Child Care Resource and Referral and the VITA program. Such grants, coupled with the support of more than 38,000 donors, ensures all of these programs will continue to thrive in 2010 and beyond, helping people in need now and working to prevent future needs.

Advocacy & Impact Successes

Because government is a critical decision-maker and the major provider and funder of health and human services, United Way actively engages in public policy and develops partnerships that include local, state and federal governments along with the private and nonprofit sectors. In 2009, United Way served as a convener of different voices in the community, fostering straightforward discussions on areas ranging from early childhood to workforce development. United Way staff and volunteers built relationships with public officials during meetings in Columbia, S.C., Washington D.C., and knowledge building sessions in Greenville. Other 2009 highlights include:

- Determined public policy priorities and formally published our 2009-2010 public policy agenda.
- Hosted two meetings with legislators, one focusing on United Way’s response to the economic crisis, and the second to foster a conversation on workforce development efforts.
- Secured attendance from legislators at Graduate Greenville events, noting the impact of the community collaborative to address high school dropout issues.
- Formed a faith-based roundtable to increase awareness of community issues amongst a broader segment of the population.
- Helped gain sponsorship of the Calling of 2-1-1 Act in Washington, D.C.
- Provided education as to the harm child care priviso (26.28) could have on children. Had it been signed into law, it would have led to a suspension of the enforcement of child care center staff-to-child ratio regulations for one year. Made positive strides in leveraging United Way private dollars to achieve systems improvements.

A Caring Spirit

This community continues to show its caring spirit and recognizes urgent needs here in our community every day. The citizens of Greenville County, through their outstanding support of United Way in 2009, have shown once again that our community is truly unsurpassed in its commitment to helping others.

Special thanks to 2009 Campaign Chair Howard Boyd of Gallivan, White & Boyd, P.A., whose leadership was essential to making the campaign successful.

Thank you.

Your support of United Way of Greenville County is critical to making sure that people in need right now can find help. Together we also look to find solutions to our community’s most pressing issues. By tackling these root causes head on, we truly can eliminate future needs for so many by positively impacting school readiness of our children, high school graduation of our youth, and financial stability of individuals and families throughout Greenville County.

None of this important work is possible without the support of you and your neighbors throughout this community. On behalf of the local programs that you support, as well as the individuals, families and neighborhoods that you help through your generosity, thank you.

Thank you for caring. Thank for sharing. Thank you for making the choice to LIVE UNITED.
